Abstract

The present invention relates to amorphous photosensitive networks. The networks are characterized by good shape memory properties.